Privacy

We are committed to protecting your privacy and confidentiality in accordance with the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth) including the Privacy Amendment (Engaging privacy Protection) Act 2012 and Australian Privacy Principles (APPs). This policy outlines our practices for collecting and handling personal information. By asking us to provide you with our financial services, you consent to the collection and use of the information you have provided to us for the purposes described below.

What information do we collect and how do we use it?

We as broker and the insurer collect your personal and sensitive information in order to calculate your loss and entitlements, determine the insurer's liability, compile data and handle claims.

We usually collect identifying information such as your name, address, contact telephone numbers and email addresses. Depending on the product or service, we may also need to collect more specific or sensitive information, which may include (but is not limited to) your insurance history, health data or criminal records. We will only collect this type of information where necessary to provide our services to you and in accordance with the Privacy Act.

To enable us to administer our financial services, we collect the information needed to ensure appropriate advice to you and any information required by product suppliers. We will usually provide some or all of this information to our product suppliers, some of which may be located outside Australia.

Additionally, when a claim is made under an insurance policy, we and our representatives and those of the insurer (including investigators, medical advisers and lawyers) collect information about the claim, some of which may be personal information. We may collect the information from you or from third parties.

We provide this information to the insurer and or their agents and those appointed to assist you in making a claim. Again this information may be passed on to your underwriters and reinsurers. We may also use your personal information internally to help us improve our services and help resolve any problems.

Where you give us information about other persons you must have their consent to this and provide it on their behalf. If not, you must tell us. If you do not agree to provide us with the information we request, we may not be able to offer you the product or services you seek.

How do we hold and protect your information?

We hold the information we collect from you in our computer system and in our hard copy files. We will endeavour to take reasonable steps to protect your personal information from misuse, loss, unauthorised access, modification or disclosure.

Will we disclose the information we collect to anyone?

When handling claims we and the insurer may have to disclose your personal and other information to third parties, including but not limited to insurers, reinsurers, loss adjusters, external claims data collectors, investigator and agents, or other parties as required by law. Your personal information will only be disclosed to these third parties where the disclosure is reasonably required to carry out our business or activities unless you have authorised otherwise (or if required by law).

These parties are prohibited from using your personal information except for the specific purpose for which we supply it to them and we take such steps as are reasonable to ensure that they are aware of the provisions of this Privacy Policy in relation to your personal information.

We may also provide your personal information to others if we are required to do so by law or under some unusual other circumstances which the Privacy Act permits.

If we do propose to disclose or use your personal information other than for the purposes listed above, we will first seek your consent prior to such disclosure or use. We do not sell, trade, or rent personal information to others.

How can you access, update or change your information?

You have the right to seek access to your personal information and to correct it at any time. Please contact customer service in writing to advise if any changes are required. We do not charge for receiving a request for access to personal information or for complying with a correction request, but reserve the right to charge for all reasonable costs incurred in meeting your request for information.

Complaints regarding your personal information

Any complaints regarding a breach of privacy should be directed to customer service via mail, email or phone. We will do all that is reasonable in the circumstances to address your complaint.

In the instance where you are dissatisfied with our response, or you have not received a response from us within 30 days, you are able to lodge a complaint with the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner (OAIC) in accordance with the Act.

Information sent overseas

In certain instances it is likely that some or all of the Personal Information that you provide to us may be disclosed to businesses that operate overseas. The countries in which these recipients of your personal information are located will depend on the types of services we provide to you and the location of other services providers.

In all such cases we commit to making reasonable enquiries to ensure that these organisations comply with their local privacy legislation. However in some instances we may not be able to take reasonable steps to ensure that overseas providers do not breach the Privacy Act, or they may not be subject to the same level of protection or obligations offered by the Act. If you do not agree to the transfer of your personal information outside Australia, please contact us.
